In April 2020, only a month into the COVID-19 outbreak in our state, the Hawai'i Lodging & Tourism Association joined forces with the Hawai'i Tourism Authority and Hawai'i Visitors and Convention Bureau to offer complimentary hotel stays to first-responders and healthcare workers courageously toiling in the frontlines of the pandemic. That effort, called "Hotels for Heroes," included 35 hotels that would provide more than a thousand room nights for these guests, many of whom were overworked and afraid of exposing their families to the virus.

Then, in September 2021, with the Delta variant now straining the state's medical capacity, the Hawai'i Lodging & Tourism Association introduced "Hotels for Healthcare Heroes," to offer two-night staycations for local doctors, nurses, and clinical staff battling the pandemic. This partnership with the Healthcare Association of Hawai'i was made possible through the generosity of HLTA member-hotels across the state.

"Hotels for Healthcare Heroes" ran the weekend of September 17 to the end of October. Participants were selected by hospital administrators who worked directly with HLTA and the Healthcare Association of Hawai'i.

A total of 64 hotels across the Hawaiian Islands stepped forward to participate, welcoming the dedicated corps of healthcare heroes for a respite from their demanding responsibilities. In all, 715 professionals representing 34 hospital groups, enjoyed staycations totaling 1,430 room nights.

Mahalo to our HLTA member-hotels and their dedicated employees for helping to demonstrate the hospitality industry's gratitude to the healthcare professionals who are protecting and caring for us during this crisis.

" Kohala Hospital had the opportunity to send frontline staff, including housekeeping, who live our mission and had perfect attendance during the big surge here in mid-September. I felt it important to give respite to those staff members who were here covering when it counted.

"After spending a whole weekend at the Four Seasons Resort Hualalai, Mauna Kea Beach Hotel, and The Westin Hapuna Beach Resort, these staff members came back to work feeling rejuvenated and appreciated. They were thanking me for selecting them for something I don't feel responsible for. Please extend thanks to all involved who put on this wonderful program."

Kohala Hospital

" As a part of our own Kuleana Commitment (Mālama 'Ōhana), The Fairmont Kea Lani was happy to support the Hotels for Healthcare Heroes program and show our appreciation to local doctors, nurses, and clinical staff for all their efforts throughout the pandemic. These heroes, like so many others, have worked tirelessly to address COVID-19 for more than a year, and we were honored to be able to welcome them and demonstrate our sincere gratitude."

*Michael Pye, General Manager
The Fairmont Kea Lani*

" The best thing about the weekend was the reassurance that the Four Seasons Resort Oahu at Ko Olina was able to provide a great experience in a safe and thoughtful way. All staff were wearing their masks at all times in a correct way. The restaurants were socially distanced and cleaning was apparent. The hand sanitizers were readily available, and the signage about masks was tastefully done. So many thanks again!"

The Queen's Medical Center

" We were proud to be able to support the Hotels for Healthcare Heroes initiative. Prior to each arrival, I worked closely with our team to ensure that these very special guests would be treated as real Heroes throughout their stay at The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Waikiki Beach. From our best rooms to personalized amenities, every detail was reviewed and communicated to the team. We wanted to really roll out the red carpet and express our appreciation for all their hard work throughout the pandemic."

*Douglas Chang, General Manager
The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Waikiki Beach*

"Hotels for Healthcare Heroes" went a long way in showing our appreciation to a group of medical professionals who have been working day and night to get us to a better place. The hospitality industry has taken this responsibility very seriously and we are doing all we can to be a part of the solution as our community continues to fight the pandemic.

The response by our HLTA members was exceptional, with 64 hotels immediately responding to our call for participation. The hoteliers were more than eager to show our gratitude to these amazing men and women, many of whom have been working tirelessly around-the-clock since early last year to keep our community healthy and safe.

We're also thankful for the strong support we received from Lieutenant Governor Josh Green, who encouraged us to reboot last year's "Hotels for Heroes," and the enthusiastic endorsement of county mayors Rick Blangiardi of Honolulu, Derek Kawakami of Kaua'i, Mitch Roth of Hawai'i, and Michael Victorino of Maui.

We're not out of this yet, but rest assured that the Hawai'i Lodging & Tourism Association, and the entire visitor industry for that matter, stands poised to respond to the needs of our community.

Mufi Hannemann

President & CEO
Hawai'i Lodging & Tourism Association

Our Hawai'i healthcare workers have been making sacrifices and putting their own lives at risk throughout the pandemic as they take care of our friends, neighbors, co-workers, and those we love. We are tremendously appreciative of the Hawai'i Lodging & Tourism Association, and all the participating hotels, for donating hotel rooms that provide more than just a place to sleep. These rooms have provided a place to find respite from the pandemic, and an opportunity for these professionals to refresh themselves in mind and body. Mahalo for the true appreciation and aloha shown to Hawai'i's healthcare heroes.
